

Kendall Lake Night-O

October 18, 2014

It was cold. It was wet. It was dark. Most rational people would have spent the evening at home, watching a movie or reading a book. Not the 50 people who showed up for the annual fall classic—the Kendall Lake Night-O. Contestants slipped and slid across hill and dale to follow (more or less) courses designed and set by Tim Feasor (white and medium) and Steve Wells (wacko). Visitors included Thomas Knapp from Pennsylvania and Collin Sauer, Steve Sauer, and Jen Palmer all the way from Columbus.

In addition to Tim and Steve, our volunteers were: Ed Seidel (registrar), Randy Mitchell (doing what needed to be done), Joshua Yee (a Scout volunteer, fire starter extraordinaire, and starter), and control collectors Fred Mailey and Steve Wells. Thanks also to Collin Sauer for his help with finishing and timing. Thank you all. Without you this event never would have come off as well as it did. Also a thank you to Heidi and Jerry Spangler, who brought apple cider and donuts for the crowd.

Now the results. For some of the incomplete results, participants went out of order on control punching, so the split times for incompletes may not reflect exactly the time of going one point to the next one.

In spite of the weather, everyone appeared to have a good time. All who set out returned, though we were not so sure about Joan and Julia long about 9:30 or so. Be sure to make plans for the next Night-O, which will be November 1st at Quail Hollow State Park.
